

RE: ISSN Center Contact Us Inbox x

ISSN.misc <ISSN.misc@loc.gov> to me ▾

Apr 19, 2021, 10:37 PM (22 hours ago) ☆ ↶ ⋮

Hello Dr. Kowalski

Thanks for your query. Please see the explanations below:

- ISSN 1553-6939

This is the ISSN assigned to the print version of Psychology and education

- ISSN-L 1553-6939

The ISSN-L (also known as a "Linking ISSN") is an ISSN that groups the different media of the same serial publication. Should you request an ISSN for a different format of Psychology and education (e.g. if you publish an online format) it would receive its own an ISSN, but share the same ISSN-L listed here. The ISSN-L is available for use when there is a need to identify and link to a continuing resource without regard to format, for example in services such as OpenURL, library catalogues, search engines or knowledge bases.

- Incorrect ISSN 0033-3077

An incorrect ISSN is added to a record when an ISSN that hasn't been assigned to a publication is incorrectly attributed to it. This way if a user/reader has an issue with the incorrect ISSN, they can still search and find the publication. A common situation where this happens is with a title change. Sometimes a publication misprints an ISSN when a title change occurs before printing the new ISSN in later issues. Based on the records for ISSN 1553-6939 and ISSN 0033-3077, it seems that was the case here. When the title changed from Psychology to Psychology and education, one or more of the issues of Psychology and education likely listed ISSN 0033-3077 in error.

Unfortunately, I can't speak to the issues Elsevier is having with indexing your publication, but as far as we can see, there are no errors in the ISSN record, it is confirmed in the ISSN Portal, and I see that your journal is successfully indexed by other services (i.e. PsychInfo).

If you have any other questions or further details provided by Elsevier's indexing service, please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Best wishes

Adriana

U.S. ISSN Center
Library of Congress

Available now! ISSN Uplink, a new way to apply for ISSN:

<https://locexternal.servicenowservices.com/issn> As of November 23, 2020, we are no longer accepting emailed applications. For information about Uplink, including creating an account and applying for ISSN, visit <https://loc.gov/issn>

Note: Pandemic-related delays. ISSN requests sent by post or delivery services, and phone call responses, may be delayed due to staff continuing to work remotely. Thank you for your patience.

101 Independence Ave., S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20540-4284
E-mail: issn.misc@loc.gov
Website: <http://www.loc.gov/issn/>

